Daniel has been a member of the Florida Bar since 2016. Before joining Heise Suarez Melville, Daniel served as a judicial law clerk to two federal judges in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida: the Honorable Lauren F. Louis, United States Magistrate Judge, and the Honorable Rodney Smith, United States District Judge. Prior to that, Daniel worked as an attorney at Boies Schiller Flexner, where he practiced high-risk, complex commercial litigation with a focus on class-action lawsuits and contractual disputes. He was also a part of a team who represented the victims of convicted sex offender Jeffrey Epstein on a pro bono basis.

Daniel graduated from Emory University with a Bachelor of Arts in English in 2013, and from Wake Forest University School of Law with a Juris Doctor in 2016. While in law school, Daniel completed a summer judicial externship with the Honorable Raag Singhal, then-Broward County Circuit Judge for the Seventeenth Judicial Circuit of Florida. Currently, Daniel is also involved with the local chapters of the Federal Bar Association and the Asian Pacific American Bar Association.

When not working, Daniel can be found on a tennis court, at the beach, or volunteering at his local art museum.
